

Professional Biography

Dr. Anelle S. J. Moss is a dynamic education leadership professional and advocate who brings her knowledge to her clients with authenticity and integrity. She is a proud native of native of Trinidad & Tobago with Bahamian roots, having migrated there with her family in the early 1990s. With both parents in the education field, she quickly absorbed a passion for educational environments, student success, and the impact of good educators in the lives of students ranging from K-12 to Higher Education.

Often referred to as “Dr. A,” she has earned both a Ph.D. and a Master of Education in education leadership from Florida Atlantic University. Additionally, she proudly holds a MBA with a focus in management, as well as a Bachelor of Science in business administration with a marketing focus both from Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University. Dr. A is also certified in Appreciative Advising from the Office of Appreciative Education at Florida Atlantic University, and, also holds a certification to Manage and Facilitate Online Courses through the University of the West Indies (Open Campus).

Her educational background, coupled with over a decade of combined student & academic affairs leadership experience, business expertise, and cultural advocacy initiatives enables her to offer her clients “the maven’s touch” to impact lives, families and communities. Within the education field she has worked in various capacities across private, public and international institutions of higher education in areas ranging, but not limited to, teaching & instruction, academic affairs, student affairs, curriculum development, research & assessment and institutional effectiveness. A researcher at heart, she enjoys reading and meaningful exploration, and especially engaging in these activities in a manner that contributes to the matriculation of others along the way.

Within the South Florida region, Dr. A has also served as a trainer facilitating professional development workshops for administrators/teachers at Title I schools within the K-12 Broward County Public School System. Her trainings have also been tailored to meet the strategic planning and business development needs of companies across a myriad of fields including healthcare, real estate, entrepreneurship, trade & logistics and printing services. She has empowered entrepreneurs within numerous industries to develop businesses and meet other professional development needs from start to profit nationally and internationally.

Known as “The Maven,” Dr. Moss is zealous about shaping tomorrow’s generation through intentional contributions in areas of student success, mentorship, business and professional development, cultivating nurturing environments and cultural advocacy.